- Visit www.vec.virginia.gov to:
  - File and amend reports
  - Make payments
  - View detailed information regarding your account
  - Update account information
  - Receive immediate confirmation your reports and/or payments have been received
- Was your report filed late?
  - Payments received are applied to penalties first before being apportioned to tax and interest due.
- Review your tax rate. Did you pay at the correct rate?

- Attention: Your account may be turned over to a collection agency without further notice if your account is not paid in full or payment arrangements made. The additional costs of collection will be charged to your business and will be a minimum of 25% of the balance due. Avoid this and other action which could affect your credit by paying the amount due immediately.

Late Filing Penalty

- Pursuant to §60.2-513.B, If an employer had wages payable for a calendar quarter and fails to file any report as required with respect to wages or taxes, the Virginia Employment Commission shall assess upon the employer a penalty no greater than $100, which shall be in addition to the taxes due and payable with respect to such report..

Delinquent Report Information

- We have no record of receiving tax and/or payroll reports for periods indicated with an "X" on the front of this notice. A late filing penalty has already been assessed for each period with a delinquent Employer's Quarterly Tax Report (FC-20) and is reflected on this statement.
- Delinquent reports are due immediately. Paying your late filing penalty without submitting your missing reports will not bring your account into compliance. Read below for further instructions.
- If you are no longer in business or no longer have employees in Virginia: Request your account be made inactive , online at www.vec.virginia.gov or complete and return a Change Notice (FC-20C), which also is available online. For any delinquent tax report for a period after the date of last payroll: deduct the late filing penalty from the total amount due and do not submit reports. The late filing penalty for the period will be removed when the account is made inactive.
- If you have zero Total and Taxable Wages to Report: You are only required to file an Employer's Quarterly Tax Report (FC-20). The late filing penalty will be removed once the report has posted to your account. You may deduct the late filing penalty from the total amount due on this notice.
- To file paper reports: Online filing is recommended for all filers. Paper reports are accepted for quarterly filers only. Remit your delinquent report(s), payment coupon, and payment in the enclosed envelope or mail to: Virginia Employment Commission, Cashier's Office, P.O. Box 27592, Richmond, VA 23218. For any delinquent Employer's Quarterly Tax report (FC-20) you are submitting, compute tax and interest due and add this amount to the balance due on this notice. Interest is assessed at 1 ½ % of tax due per month or portion of a month from due date of return.

Delinquent Amount Information

- Payments Received: Will be applied beginning with the earliest period having a balance due, first to penalties, and then apportioned to tax and interest before moving to the next period with a balance due.
- Penalties Due: May include late report filing penalties, $75 improper filing format penalties, $25 dishonored payment charges and/or other charges.
- Balance Due: To avoid further action, your payment must be received by the due date on this notice. If the due date is "Immediately," this means your account has already been referred for collection action. Contact , Tax Representative,,
